Using Latex based inks

With increasing speed and resolution, high quality Latex printers are revolutionizing the design graphics output market. These devices offer fast, durable display images for both indoor and outdoor use and provide designers with an abundance of media options to fulfill virtually any application requirement. Our range of media products includes adhesive back papers and vinyls, fine art canvas and papers and many polyester and banner options to match the specific design and display features, helping you to realize the impact of your imagined graphic.

MtM's Portfolio of Latex Print Media

What our Can can do for you!

The products in our line of Latex media are manufactured by several of the top material production companies in the industry and offer both consistency and reliability, while also serving as economical options for the creation of a wide range of presentation and display graphic applications.

Our Unique Can of media was created to take the guess work out of identifying and demonstrating how these impressive materials will look and perform for you and your customers. The can will provide you with an actual imaged sample of all of the specialty latex materials listed on this chart?

To get your Latex media Can just ask your supplies representative.
